Dear Shareholders,

The Directors of the Bank have great pleasure in presenting the 16th Annual Report on the business and operations of the Bank along with the audited accounts for the year ended March 31, 2015.

Economic Overview

The Indian economy in the year 2014-15 has emerged as one of the largest economies with a promising economic outlook on the back of controlled inflation, rise in domestic demand, increase in investment, decline in oil prices and reforms among others. The economy of India is the seventh largest in the world by nominal GDP and the third largest by Purchasing Power Parity (PPP). According to Finance Ministry, Government of India, the annual growth rate of the Indian economy is projected to have increased to 7.4% in 2014-15 as compared with 6.9% in the fiscal year 2013-14. Over the six and half decades since independence, the country has brought about a landmark agricultural revolution that has transformed the nation from chronic dependence on grain imports into a global agricultural powerhouse that is now a net exporter of food. Life expectancy has more than doubled, literacy rates have quadrupled, health conditions have improved, and a sizeable middle class has emerged. India is now home to globally recognized companies in pharmaceuticals and steel and information and space technologies, and a growing voice on the international stage that is more in keeping with its enormous size and potential.

The financial year 2014-15 has been characterized by mega events. The socio-economic scene at the global level has been multi faced where on one side in the developed world the US has staged a remarkable economic recovery and Japan trying its level best to edge past decades long deflation and on the other hand Euro zone has been marred by rising government debt and deteriorating fiscal health and fast deteriorating economic health with fears of deflation looming large and on the other hand, the developing world economies too have witnessed varied developments. India, has emerged as a big winner of the current financial year on many fronts, first and foremost, India has elected a central government with a strong mandate with a strong economic developmental agenda, secondly, the fall in commodity prices, specially crude oil has benefited India to a great extent as India is primarily a crude oil importer, the massive fall in crude oil prices has improved India's fiscal and current account deficits to a large extent, making India a favorite investment destination. The green shoots are visible and economic cycle looks promising for a turnaround in the quarters and years to come. However, economic growth and industrial growth rates are yet to revive. As for banks, mounting non-performing assets continue to remain as an area of concern. The good thing is the future expectations of economic recovery gives glimpse of hope to the banking industry for business revival and improvement in asset quality.

Now, coming to our land, Punjab, the land of unlimited possibilities where agriculture, small and medium scale industry and entrepreneurship is blossoming. Capital Local Area Bank, is putting in its share in the fast paced economic development of the state of Punjab. Punjab has witnessed fast track economic development and structural shift over the past half century. Punjab was a state known primarily for its agriculture, livestock, forestry, and less for industries, minerals, tourism. The demographics are changing and changing for the good. There is a growing middle class with regular monthly income besides agriculture income. Punjab was looked upon as an agricultural economy where big industrial units were a rarity and banking industry did not play its role effectively besides being a deposit unit because of its huge NRI base. Set up with the objective to augment credit for viable economic activities in the rural areas and bridging the credit gap, Capital Local Area Bank Limited, caters to the needs of rural India and have been delivering a wide range of financial services and providing world-class banking services to the local rural community at a low cost. The hardworking youth is making a difference to the state by diversifying away from agriculture based occupation to urbanization and industrialization; most of the educated segment of the youth is striving to become entrepreneurs creating more job opportunities for their peers. Capital Local Area Bank endeavor to nurture the entrepreneurship of the youth to accelerate the economic growth of the area through provision of credit at grass root level and employment generation. In order to remove institutional inhibition and create awakening among masses to avail banking facilities, the Bank endeavored for inclusive growth from the very inception and introduced very low cost deposit products and later no frill deposit accounts and has been instrumental in rural upliftment in the area of operation. The Bank is pioneering the 7 Day Banking role that we have been playing from the day one. The Bank is proud and privileged that it had been successful in bringing high-tech, customized, thorough professional banking services with a personal touch to the rural populous which have now been well recognized resulting in the tremendous response which the bank received at the time of opening new branches in the area of operation. ## Global Economic Environment

Global economic activity appears to be stabilizing, but with markedly divergent growth profiles between advanced and emerging economies, and between commodity exporters and importers. While Advanced Economies (AEs) remain susceptible to the risk of deflation, inflationary pressures subsided in key Emerging Economies (EMEs) giving leeway for easing monetary policy. Global commodity prices continue to decline. Financial markets were buoyant but volatile in pricing policy developments in major economies.

The collapse of international commodity prices, especially of crude oil, seems to have reallocated demand across economies. Monetary policy stances across countries have been easing, including unconventionally, and market expectations on the timing of the US monetary policy normalization have been pushed back for commodity exporters, however, risk spreads have widened and currency depreciations have been sizable. Thus, even though financial conditions are easy and are being reflected in financial asset prices, the outlook for global growth remains moderate, held back by still-weak demand.

In advanced countries, such as in the United States, growth has been firming up, aided by improving labor and housing market conditions. The sharp appreciation in the US dollar in recent months could, however, dampen prospects for exports. In the Euro area, economic conditions remain weak although some pick-up in later part of 2015 is being observed, supported by lower crude prices and the depreciation in the euro as well as increased bank lending. The contraction of activity in Japan moderated in the final quarter of 2014, with mixed signals.

Whereas, most EMEs continue to decelerate due to subdued external demand, political uncertainties and domestic supply-side constraints. In China, activity has slowed as investment demand lost pace and the real estate sector weakened on deleveraging and financial repair among households and corporations. The Russian economy slowed sharply due to falling oil prices and Western sanctions. Contraction continues in Brazil as high inflation squeezes domestic demand. Falling oil and commodity prices also weighed on growth prospects of countries in the Middle East, Eastern Europe and Latin America.

Overall, although the near-term outlook is improving slowly, AEs are yet to fully recover from the after effects of the global financial crisis and EME's are facing their own challenges. In fact, the sluggish global recovery over the course of FY 2014- 2015 has warranted successive downward adjustments to forecast the world over, raising concerns of 'secular stagnation.'

International Financial Markets

Financial Markets have been volatile all through the FY 2014-15, triggered by uncertainty over the Fed's normalization of monetary policy, political tensions in Europe relating to Greece, lower oil prices and country-specific events have also impacted investor sentiment. Unprecedented low interest rates and compressed risk premium have led to a precipitous fall in long-term government bond yields while raising most asset prices to near record highs as the search for yield pushed investors to riskier assets. Capital flows to EMEs remained healthy, but very selective, and asset class and geographical churning has been the hallmark of investment destination preference this year around

Global Price Level Stability

The Global Price Level have more or less continued to soften during the FY 2014-15. The year gone by is historic as far as the fall in crude oil price is concerned. The sharp and severe fall of crude oil below $50 has been beyond the realms of imagination of one and all. This severe fall in crude oil prices has more or less curtailed inflation and inflationary expectations across geographies. The oil importing countries and businesses are benefitting from reduction in input costs and consumer sentiment is getting big boost which is setting the stage for sound global economic recovery to take place. But, every market move has manifold implications. The oil producing countries are facing severe slowdowns and their currencies are depreciating fast.

Inflation continues to drift downward in AEs and many EMEs albeit in varying degrees. Given weak demand conditions, falling commodity prices have made deflation a major concern for many AEs. The Euro area is struggling to emerge out of a deflationary spiral. In the US, appreciation of the dollar has also had a disinflationary effect.

Although EMEs, in general, have benefited from the sharp fall in commodity prices, inflation has remained stubbornly high in a few countries. While China faces the risk of deflation due to weak domestic demand and falling factory prices. By contrast, inflationary pressures remain high in Brazil and Russia, attributable to domestic factors and substantial currency depreciation.

Looking ahead, commodity prices will likely remain stable as slack in the global economy persists. Tepid and uneven economic recovery across major economies could intensify disinflationary pressures. On the other hand, monetary policy easing measures undertaken by major central banks should support demand. International Monetary Policy Action Faced by the combination of deflationary/disinflationary pressures and weak growth, central banks in both AEs and EMEs have pursued accommodative monetary policies. In the US, monetary policy remains highly accommodative with interest rates close to zero even after the cessation of the Fed's asset purchases in October. Facing persistent deflation, the Bank of Japan has continued with its target of monetary base expansion of 80 trillion yen per year. The ECB began its asset purchase program since March 2015 which, in turn, has produced sizable depreciation of the euro. Many EMEs have eased their policy stances as inflationary pressures subsided on weak domestic demand and the sharp fall in energy prices.

Domestic Macro Economic Environment

The financial year 2014-15 has brought inflation under control, sentiment both consumer and investment has improved, political stability and growth bottomed out. In nutshell, the year has set the stage for a sustainable economic growth. The macro economic environment is expected to improve in 2015-16, with fiscal policy gearing to an investment-led growth strategy and monetary policy using available room for accommodation. Business conditions in Indian manufacturing is improving and the strong impetus of the government to make India global manufacturing hub are going to further augment economic activity. Large declines in commodity prices and the benign inflation outlook for the near-term should provide a boost to growth. The consumer sentiment is picking up reflecting purchasing power gains arising from lower inflation as well as improved perception of income, spending and employment growth.

Domestic economic activity firmed up in 2014-15, spurred by a pick-up in manufacturing and services. Recent upgrades to the national accounts by the CSO indicate that a rebound in economic activity that started in 2013-14 has gathered pace in the second half of 2014-15. While these estimates have generated considerable public scrutiny and debate, there is a building optimism that an inflexion point in the economic cycle is approaching. As inflation retreats in an environment of macro economic and political stability, confidence in setting a double-digit growth trajectory for the Indian economy over the medium-term is flooding back. Unleashing of these growth impulses hinges around various factors such as investments locked in stalled projects and shortfalls in the availability of key inputs such as power, land, infrastructure and human skill formation. Business sentiment is also buoyed by investor-friendly tax proposals, planned switches in public spending from subsidies to investment that crowd in private enterprise, structural reforms and the intention to continue fiscal consolidation announced in the Union Budget for 2015-16. But still there is presence of considerable slack in the economy and bottlenecks need to be removed before fast paced growth can become a routine.

Policy Framework

Stable political environment, falling inflation, pro growth fiscal and monetary policies, special impetus to encourage manufacturing sector and skill development for job creation are the seeds of the crop of sustainable multi decade fast paced growth which we can envisage going forward.

Fiscal Policy

India can balance the short-term imperative of boosting public investment to revitalize growth with the need to maintain fiscal discipline. Expenditure control and expenditure switching, from consumption to investment, is going to be the biggest challenge for fiscal policy. Central Government is committed to create fine balance between Fiscal Consolidation and augmenting sustainable economic growth.

Monetary Policy

The goal of Monetary Policy is primarily price stability, while keeping in mind the objective of balance between inflation and growth. Price stability is a necessary (if not sufficient) precondition to sustainable growth and financial stability. The relative emphasis assigned to price stability and growth objectives in the conduct of monetary policy varies from time to time depending on the evolving macro economic environment.

With the agreement on Monetary Policy Framework between the Government and the Reserve Bank of India dated February 20, 2015, the Reserve Bank has formally adopted a Flexible Inflation Targeting (FIT) framework going forward, the accommodative stance of monetary policy will be maintained, but monetary policy actions will be conditioned by incoming data.

Domestic Financial Markets and Liquidity Conditions

Amidst abundant global liquidity and risk-on risk-off fluctuations in investor appetite, financial markets in India performed well during 2014-15, supported by improvement in domestic macro economic conditions. Liquidity was comfortable in all segments and this was reflected in a pick-up in turnover, softening of interest rates as government bond yields cooled off, an appreciating bias in the exchange rate of the rupee and equity markets scaling historic highs.

Capital Markets

Barring soft patches, equity markets rallied throughout 2014-15, scaling all-time highs. Indian indices were among the better performing in the world, with significantly attractive valuations relative to fundamentals and the cross-country EME experience. Government Securities markets too rallied and yields softened with the monetary stance getting dovish and monetary easing measures taken by the Reserve Bank of India. In the foreign currency markets, the rupee more or less remained stable with a negative bias and within tolerance range.

With credit and deposit growth moving broadly in tandem, liquidity conditions in the system remained comfortable throughout the year. Liquidity conditions remained stable and movements in the overnight call money rate were, by and large, anchored around the policy repo rate.

Overall, financial markets traded on a bullish note during the year 2014-15 against the backdrop of improved domestic fundamentals and a global appetite for risk.

Growth Dynamics

The outlook for growth is improving gradually. Comfortable liquidity conditions should enable banks to transmit the recent reductions in the policy rate into their lending rates, thereby improving financing conditions for the productive sectors of the economy. Along with initiatives announced in the Union Budget to boost investment in infrastructure and to improve the business environment, these factors should provide confidence to private investment and, together with the conducive outlook on inflation, deliver real income gains to consumers and lower input cost advantages to corporate. GDP growth estimates of the CSO for 2014-15 already project a robust pick-up. Further declines in inflation and the resulting monetary easing will provide policy support for growth both by encouraging household spending in interest-sensitive sectors and reducing the debt burden of firms, strengthening their balance sheets. The structural reforms, fiscal prudence, infrastructure development and new project launches from the government are going to kick start sustainable economic development and private sector shall jump to augment its investment in stable and promising economic and political scenario. The next decades belong to India, and we can be the global power in the years to come.

Strategy for Furthering Financial Inclusion

Financial Inclusion denotes delivery of financial services at an affordable cost to the vast sections of the disadvantaged and low-income groups. The various financial services include credit, savings, insurance, payments and remittance facilities, etc. The objective of financial inclusion is to extend the scope of activities of the organized financial system to include people with low incomes within its gambit. Through graduated credit, the attempt must be to lift the poor from one level to another so that they come out of poverty. Over the past few years, your Bank has been working on a number of initiatives to promote financial inclusion across identified sections of rural, under-banked and un-banked consumers. These initiatives target segments of the population that have limited or no access to the formal banking system for their basic banking and credit requirements. The Bank's financial inclusion initiatives have been integrated across its various businesses, as well as across product groups. Capital Local Area Bank has been actively involved in providing micro-credit facility at grassroot level recognizing its emerging potential as an approach for empowerment of women and poverty alleviation. We anticipate the living standards to significantly improve as a result of augmenting the income / business cycles of these individuals. This would create more jobs and therefore more stable families, supported by new incomes and employment. As basic needs are met, borrowers will be able to put in more effort into other income-generating projects – such as, irrigation projects – and therefore maximize the use of available resources. The Bank has opened 52,798 'No Frill' accounts under Financial Inclusion of those households, which did not have any access to banks or post offices. The 'No Frill' Accounts of the Bank constitutes 26.74% of total savings bank accounts.
